

It is totally incomprehensible that a radio station who hires employees to condone vehicular assault to cyclists has an FCC license.

If Howard Stern was censored for lewd sexual commentary, how can the government be unaware that G-105 has its DJ's provoking all drivers to wreck into any cyclists in their path.

If no action is taken by the FCC on this matter, what will stop the next DJ from talking his audience into blowing up federal buildings to demonstrate their dissatisfaction with the government?
